AVIATION MECHANICS

WCC CONTINUES EXCELLENT RECORD

This was an editorial taken from the Goldsboro News Argus which exemplifies the outstanding achievements of some of our programs.

While Wayne Community College probably ranks at or near the bottom in adequacy and continues an extraordinary record in academic excellence.

While it is a two-year institution, WCC graduates in some fields have a better record in passing state licensing examinations that do those completing four years at some of our state universities.

For 15 years, every graduate of the associate degree program has passed the state examination to become registered nurses. Today, we have 300 registered nurses who came through the Wayne Community College program.

That record extends to the licensed practical nursing program as well. All 165 graduates passed the state exam. This year, one of the LPN graduates, Phyllis Ann Bright, scored a perfect 800 on her state examination.

During the past six years, 122 of the 127 dental hygientists graduates passed their national licensing examinations on the first try.

Meanwhile, in dental assistants graduates passing their national examinations, Wayne Community ranks among the top 10 percent of 67 institutions in the nation with such programs.

No graduate of the aviation mechanics program at WCC has ever failed a national licensing exam.

Not only does the school rank high in the number of graduates passing the state and national examinations, students from Wayne Community consistently score above the national norms.

Students in the programs at Wayne Community are quick to say that the courses there are demanding. Homework loads are heavy, Instructors are uncompromising. The rewards, however, are obvious. Graduates not only take their licensing board examinations with confidence, they enter their respective fields knowing they are well prepared.

The college, its department heads and faculty — and especially its students — can take great pride in what they are doing and the reputation they have built and continue to enhance. All of Wayne County should be proud of them.

MESSAGE FROM THE EDITOR

When I accepted the position of editor, I had no idea of the amount of work that is involved in putting one of these things together. But instead of telling you about how much work was involved, I would like to tell you about how much I learned.

First of all, through extensive contact with most of our programs, I learned that the most important goal of our campus is the students' education. Education is the driving force behind WCC. Second, I learned that our instructors are professional, concerned, and very helpful individuals. They were very cooperative in many areas where we needed help, and I would like to personally thank them. Finally, I learned a lot about students. I saw students who are going to face the challenge of being our future leaders, and because of the training they receive here, they will be mentally prepared. Being able to meet so many students was probably the most enjoyable aspect of this job.

I would like to thank Malcolm Shearin and the rest of the Media Staff for all of their assistance. They were very cooperative.

Thanks also to Mike Allen and Bill Royall for their input.

A very special thanks to my staff and good friends — Mike Wegman and Bertie Wilson. They were always available, and without their dedication this project never could have materialized.

Last, but not least, thanks to Carolyn Braxton. She listened to all of our complaints — especially mine — and was always willing to help. Her contributions to this book are too numerous to list. Thanks Carolyn, we love you.

Although we made every effort to put as many different faces and programs as possible in this book, inevitably some were left out. This was due to a variety of reasons mainly the small number of personnel we had to work with. If you were left out, I apologize.

In conclusion, although there are areas and ideas that I wish we could have pursued to make this book better, I am quite proud of what we have done. I hope you enjoy it.
